"America Today: Voices in Contemporary Print" at the Print Center

"America Today: Voices in Contemporary Print" brings the works of more than 30 artists from across the country together to explore core principles of democracy, including civil rights, social justice, racial equality, and political engagement. With Philadelphia at the center of America's founding, the exhibition bridges past and present, inviting audiences to reflect on how democratic ideals continue to evolve at a pivotal moment in the nation's history. Featuring widely recognized artists whose work has been exhibited in major museums around the world, "America Today" offers a compelling opportunity to engage with contemporary perspectives on urgent national issues.

When: Through Saturday, July 25

Where: The Print Center, 1614 Latimer St.
